Day 02: At Gangtok

Early morning, we wake up to witness a spectacular sunrise of the Kanchenjunga massif from Tashi view point, which is located 16 kms from Gangtok. We return to the hotel for breakfast. Later, we visit the Sikkim Research Institute of Tibetology. In 1957, the 14th Dalai Lama laid the foundation stone of this architectural wonder that houses a huge collection of rare Sanskrit, Lepcha and Tibetan manuscripts, sculptures, treasured artifacts and Buddhist icons.

Next point will be the Do Drul Chorten the biggest stupa in Sikkim, located on the hill hock, adjacent to the Tibetology Institute. Popularly known as Phurba, this stupa was built in 1945. We will also visit the Cottage Industries Centre to see the local handicrafts of Sikkim and the Flower Show. Last, we will visit the Enchey Monastery, a Nyingma Monastery believed to have been built by a monk with flying powers. In the evening, we walk around M.G. Marg, the heart of Gangtok city.

Day 03: Gangtok – Rumtek (22 km, 40 mins)

We visit Rankha & Rumtek monastery. The Rankha Monastery is a relatively new one but the location in a forested area is beautiful. Later, we drive to the famous Rumtek Monastery. This monastery was built by the 16th Gyalwang Karmapa in the 1960's as a replica of the Tshurphu monastery, the original home of the Karmapas in Tibet. The monastery is also the headquarters for the Dharma Chakra Centres, the world over housing rare and antique pieces of Buddhist art. There is also an Institute of Higher Buddhist Learning in the monastery complex.

After the visit, we check in at the Teen Taley Eco resort, not a regular hotel but more of a home stay with its own organic gardens. There is a 1 km trail within the resort for bird lovers. Overnight stay is at Teen Taley.

Day 04: Rumtek – Namchi - Ravangla – Kewzing (109 km/ 4 hr)

We drive to Namchi for 92 kms. In Namchi, we visit Sandruptse. The world's largest statue (at 118 feet) of Padmasambhava, also known as Guru Rinpoche, the patron saint of Sikkim, is on the Samdruptse hill (The Wish Fulfilling well) opposite Namchi. It was completed in February 2004. Later, we drive to the village of Kewzing. Overnight stay is at the Bon Farmhouse or a local house in a Bhutia village.

Day 05: At Kewzing

Against a backdrop of a magnificent view of the mountains, Kewzing is a typical quiet Bhutia village. Located 8 kms from Ravangla in South Sikkim, it is a quiet hamlet of some thirty houses, with the residents predominantly Buddhist. The accommodation is simple but neat and comfortable and wholesome local food is served from the family kitchen. You can participate in the daily or seasonal chores of the family or just spend a few days of relaxation in a Sikkimese village.

On this day, we walk in the village and visit the nearby monastery and the Buddha Park in Ravangla.

Day 06: Kewzing - Tashiding – Pelling (81 km/ 3.5 hr)

We drive to Pelling, en route visiting the Tashiding monastery. The Tashiding Monastery is part of the Buddhist religious pilgrimage circuit starting with the first monastery at Yuksam in Sikkim known as the Dubdi Monastery, Norbugang Chorten, Pemayangtse Monastery, the Rabdentse ruins, the Sanga Choeling Monastery, and the Khecheopalri Lake.

Day 07: Pelling & Pemayangtse Monastery

The Pemayangtse Monastery, in Pemayangtse, founded by Lama Lhatsun Chempo in 1705, is one of the oldest and most famous monasteries of west Sikkim. Of particular note is a seven-tiered painted wooden structure portraying Guru Rimpoche's Heavenly Palace known as 'Sangthokpalri' also spelt 'Zandog-palri', on the top floor of the monastery. After this, we walk to the Sanga Choeling monastery. The literal meaning of Sanga Choeling is the 'island of esoteric teachings'. The Monastery is located on a ridge top above Pelling at a distance of 7 kilometres from Pemayangtse Monastery and is accessed by walking the steep hilly track of 4 kilometres (2.5 mi), which traverses through rich forest cover.

Sanga Cheoling Monastery, built in 1697, is also known as the place of secret spells. It has clay statues dating back to the 17th century. Later, we walk around the village of Pelling.
